Charge Third Convict In Remington Killing

Prepare To Release Alger Hiss

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A third convict—only 17—Friday was charged with slaying convicted perjurer William Remington in Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary.

Lewisburg prison authorities, meanwhile, prepared for the release of Alger Hiss, due to receive his freedom and begin the restricted life of a parolee in a matter of hours.

The 50-year-old Hiss, like Remington, was convicted of perjury in testimony he gave during investigations of the Communist conspiracy in the United States.

Remington, one-time aide in the Commerce Department, died in the prison hospital on Wednesday from a savage beating at the hands of three fellow prisoners now accused by the FBI of murder. He was struck on the head with a brick wrapped in a sock. The assault was committed in Remington's dormitory room.

The attack, coming so soon before the time set for Hiss' release, led to widespread speculation that the two were somehow connected. But acting Warden Fred T. Wilkinson said he found no good reason for so thinking.

Good behavior reduced Hiss' sentence from 5 to 3½ years. Wilkinson said Hiss, former high-ranking State Department assistant, spent his last day in prison in routine fashion.

The charging of the third convict, Lewis Cagle Jr., 17, of Chattanooga, Tenn., provided the first.

Herbert Hoover Winds Up Five Day Visit In Germany

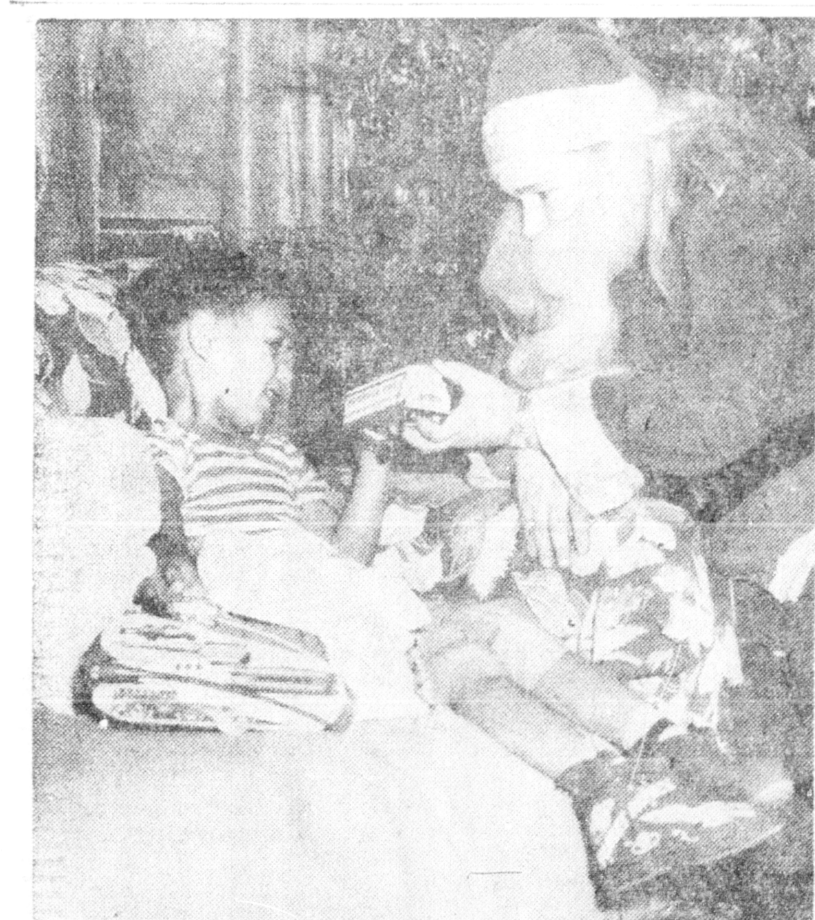

BERLIN (AP)—Herbert Hoover told West Berliners Friday night that the free nations, to bolster resistance to communism, must find solution to social ills which "prepare the soil for its evil growth."

Addressing the West Berlin City Senate, the former President said a major deterrent to communism's spread has been the increase in productivity of the Western world "where men's minds and spirits are free."

He praised the German leaders for having done their duty well in resisting the advance of "Red atheism" and meeting the burdens of a war-ravaged economy.

Hoover spoke at a banquet at City Hall, winding up his five-day tour of Germany as a guest of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The 80-year-old former President was invited to Germany by Adenauer's government in recognition of his efforts to combat famine in this country after both World Wars. He and U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant left Berlin in a U. S. Air Force plane for home Friday night.

A THANKSGIVING CHRISTMAS—Thanksgiving Day in Silvis, Ill., found reporter Bob Nourse, dressed as Santa Claus, bringing presents to 5-year-old Sylvester Weidner, Jr., who is not expected to live until Christmas because of a brain disease which is incurable. Santa brought gifts from several states which were received after radio station KSTT, Davenport, Iowa, sent out an appeal on the United Press radio wires.

Wickersham, Russian Rulers Still Follow Lenin-Stalin Line

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Rep. Victor E. Wickersham (D-Okla.) returning from 25 days in Moscow and other East European capitals, said Friday he saw nothing behind the Iron Curtain "which led me to believe the Soviet rulers have abandoned their ambition to create and dominate a Communist world."

Wickersham was the congressman who was asked by Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov to tell the American people that Russia wants to live in peace and be friends with the United States.

Arriving in Vienna from Moscow, Prague, Bucharest, Warsaw and Budapest, Wickersham said he considered the Soviet Premier a "shrewd, keen operator and a dominating ruler." The member of the House Armed Services Committee told a news conference.

"As far as I can see the present Russian rulers are still following the Lenin-Stalin line. Their talk of coexistence does not indicate any real change in Soviet foreign policy. Their actions speak louder than words."

"I think," said Wickersham, "that the United States must keep its defenses strong and must remain vigilant and wary."

"America, from the standpoint of Russian leaders, still is the Soviet Union's No. 1 enemy."

"The Soviet government is outwardly friendly but it does not believe in coexistence of the kind that the United States would like to see—where everybody can have basic freedoms and limited peace."

Of his impressions of Russia, Wickersham said the secret police were less in evidence than when he visited the Soviet Union in 1945.

There had been some economic progress in nine years, he said, but most manufactured articles were poor in quality and he was disappointed by the lack of goods in Moscow's big department stores.

Dahl, Accused Of $35,000 Theft, Says Gold Not On Plane

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Harold (Whitey) Dahl, 45-year-old American pilot accused of a $35,000 gold theft, told a Swiss criminal court Friday he is convinced the gold disappeared before his plane left on a flight from Paris to Geneva last year.

Dahl, who comes from Champaign, Ill., was the commander of the Swissair flight Oct. 6, 1953, during which a case containing the gold disappeared. Questioned by Court President Germain Pechon, Dahl said:

"I am certain the gold was never put on the plane at Le Bourget. That is the only possible explanation."

Dahl said he knew nothing about any gold shipment on the plane until he was questioned about the disappearance on the following day. Several witnesses have testified Dahl left the plane carrying a heavy package under his raincoat. Dahl claimed he was carrying two bottles of cognac smuggled through the Swiss customs. For this admission, he was dismissed by Swissair shortly after the disappearance of the gold.

Col. Fleming Loses First Move To Set Aside Conviction

CHICAGO (AP)—Lt. Col. Harry Fleming Friday lost his first move to set aside a court-martial conviction of collaborating with the Reds while he was a war prisoner in Korea during 1951.

Lt. Gen. Hobart R. Gay, commanding general of the 5th Army, approved the Sept. 23 finding by a Ft. Sheridan, Ill., court that Col. Fleming was guilty of misconduct when he made propaganda recordings for the enemy.

Gen. Gay rejected defense contentions that the 11-man court failed to give sufficient weight to harsh treatment Col. Fleming received as a prisoner.

In a statement accompanying his finding, Gen. Gay noted "extensive testimony in extenuation" of Col. Fleming's conduct but agreed with the court that Col. Fleming's actions were "without sufficient justification."

Gen. Gay said that Col. Fleming, while senior officer at Camp No. 12 in North Korea, helped the Reds with propaganda "designed to lower the morale and promote disaffection among United States troops."

His conduct, Gen. Gay said, was below the standards which the Army expects and requires of its officers.

The penalty fixed by the court was dismissal from the Army. The sentence of a court-martial does not take effect under the Uniform Code of Military Justice until it is signed by the secretary of the Army.

Smog Blankets Los Angeles, Ties Up Air, Sea Traffic

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Only hazy sunshine penetrated the eye-smarting smog over Southern California Friday.

The Weather Bureau said more heavy fog was due Friday night. Thursday night the fog came in off the ocean and halted air, sea and much highway travel, causing hundreds of auto accidents and maritime mishaps.

As it spread across the Los Angeles basin it became polluted with smoke and fumes from auto exhausts and industry and turned into smog.

The Air Pollution Control Board asked residents and industry to halt burning of rubbish until the smog eased.

Autopsies were being conducted to determine if smog was a contributing factor in the deaths of three babies who died Thanksgiving Day.

Police, sheriff's officers, and highway patrolmen estimated that there had been 1,300 traffic accidents in the past 36 fog and smog-bound hours. Two persons were killed and 130 injured.

Coast guardsmen rescued four adults and five children aboard a converted Navy crash boat which became lost and disabled in the fog bank off the coast.

Operations at Los Angeles International Airport were closed when visibility dropped to a quarter mile and the ceiling was just above the treetops. Planes were rerouted into Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank.

The Weather Bureau predicted the fog will continue through Sunday.

Untold thousands of dollars worth of clothing, food and supplies went up in smoke.

Nobody seemed to know how the fire started.

Jap Businessmen Work For Yoshida's Resignation

TOKYO (Saturday) (AP)—A falling stock market appeared Friday to have brought a new and well-bankrolled force into Japan's political arena.

Tokyo business leaders were reported working behind the scenes for the resignation of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida. They were said to favor a Conservative coalition Cabinet headed by Ichiro Hatoyama, longtime Yoshida rival, including members of Yoshida's Liberal Conservative party.

Business leaders are understood to feel this is the only way to stave off dissolution of the Diet (Parliament) and new, costly general election. Threat of this has pushed the stock market down the past two days.

Under the reported business leader plan, both Yoshida and his Cabinet would quit. Liberals and the new Democratic party, also conservative, would elect Hatoyama Prime Minister. Hatoyama's new Cabinet would include Liberal and Yoshida's deputy prime minister, Takekazu Ogata would retain his job.

Snow, Freezing Rain Glaze Parts Of Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst fog in years choked transportation in southern California Friday while snow and freezing rain glazed parts of the Midwest.

Gusty winds up to 55 mph, kicked up clouds of dust in western Kansas, eastern Colorado and portions of the surrounding states.

A storm dropped snow on much of Minnesota, western Wisconsin and northern Iowa, Minneapolis, International Falls and St. Cloud, Minn., had more than an inch of new snow. The storm center was north of the North Dakota border.

Freezing rain fell at the western edge of the snow area along the Minnesota-Dakota border.

A scattering of light sprinkles or snow flurries peppered the central and northern Appalachians. Light showers dampened the northern Plains and the far Northwest.

Fair weather was the rule throughout most of the southern half of the country.

An exception was southern California where persistent fog hampered land, sea and air travel. The fog was blamed for 1,440 traffic accidents in 36 hours in which 205 persons were injured and 2 killed. Most airports were closed. Several boats lost their positions in the fog.

Daytime temperatures were below freezing in the snow area of the Midwest and in the 30s and 40s from the eastern Dakotas eastward through New England and southward through the Ohio Valley.

Readings were mostly in the 50s and 60s in the Southeast and the 60s and 70s in the southern Plains and across the southern border states to the Pacific. Southern Florida had temperatures in the low 70s.

12-Year-Old Girl's Angus Wins Award At Farm Show

CHICAGO (AP)—A yearling Aberdeen Angus shown by 12-year-old Jane Turner of Champaign, Ill., Friday was named champion carcass steer on the hoof at the International Live Stock Exposition.

The winning animal won over 50 entered in one of three similar contests decided Friday. Judging of all other livestock will commence Saturday.

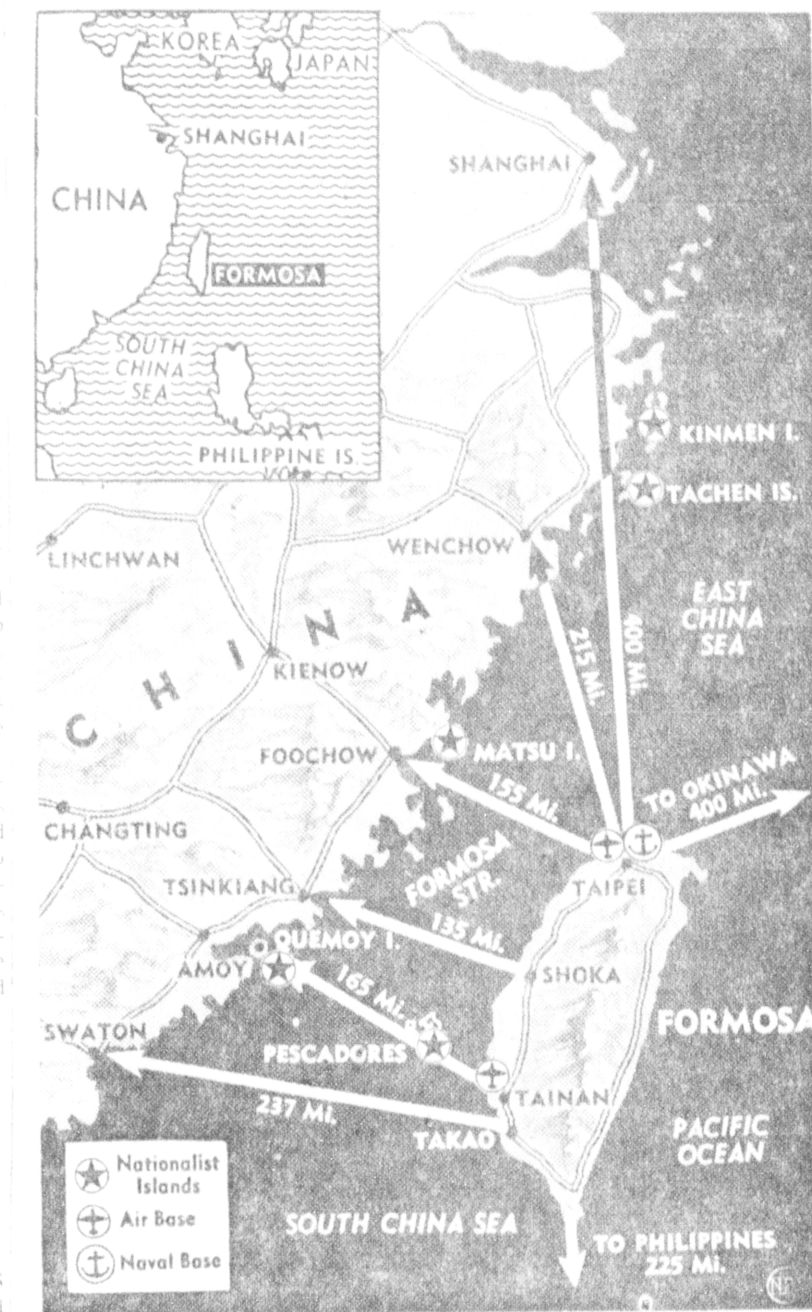

Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., won the champion carcass hog on hoof award on a 195-pound Poland China. The runner-up hog award went to Oscar Anderson of Leland, Ill., on a 237-pound Poland China.

Purdue University had a second carcass winner, taking the championship in sheep with an 88-pound Southdown wether.

More than 5,000 cattle, horses, sheep and swine are entered in the big Chicago farm show which will get into full swing Saturday for its 55th annual eight-day run.

Principal event Saturday will be selection of the junior champion steer from among some 300 entered in the junior feeding contest by farm boys and girls from 11 states. Also to be selected Saturday is the champion hog of the junior show.

China's Powder-Keg

The most worrisome-to-Washington real estate in the world is a string of tiny islands fringing the Red Coast of China for 350 miles. They have a total area of 200 square miles. Many are Nationalist held. The Reds want them, indeed must have them, if they are ever to launch an all-out attack on Formosa. The Nationalists are determined to hold them. The clash could trigger general war. Map shows strategic locations in relation to Red China and Formosa.

Nationalists Beat Off Red Attack On Island 72 Miles Off Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, Saturday (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists claimed their troops and planes beat off a Communist amphibious assault Friday on a tiny island 72 miles west of Formosa.

But the possibility of another attempt was seen in reports of Red craft remaining in the general area.

First reports were that the Reds, in five gunboats and swarms of junks, succeeded in landing on tiny Wuchiu in Formosa Strait but were beaten off with many captured.

Friday night a Nationalist Defense Ministry communique said the attack was repulsed and the attackers fled toward the mainland. It made no reference to a landing or prisoners.

The attack on Wuchiu, a mile-long, half-mile-wide island 15 miles off the mainland, was the first amphibious operation by the Reds since they began boasting last summer they would "liberate" Formosa.

Friday night's communique gave this terse version of the action: At 1:06 a.m. Friday (11:06 p.m. Thursday CST) the five Communist gunboats and many junks converged on Wuchiu from the west, south and north.

About 4 a.m., the attackers were repulsed by the island defenders and the Nationalist air force. There were earlier reports that the actual fighting lasted an hour.

Some official quarters said it was not quite clear whether the Reds actually intended to occupy Wuchiu or merely stage a raid for intelligence purposes.

Wuchiu, 63 miles northeast of Formosa, is a small island of 1,000 acres.

Clio, Ala. Opens New Bank With Prayers And Flowers

CLIO, Ala. (AP)—In a joyous mood but with prayers for divine guidance, the townspeople of Clio opened a new bank Friday on the site of the one which almost dragged the town to financial ruin nine months ago.

The first depositor at the People's Bank was a wealthy widow, Mrs. Vela Mae Reynolds, who lost more than $23,000 when the privately operated Clio Merchants Exchange collapsed after President Royall Reynolds' disappearance March 7.

Mrs. Reynolds, an aunt of the former money-handler, opened her account in the new government-insured bank with a deposit of $10,000 and expressed complete faith in the new institution.

Her nephew took all of the cash in the old Merchants Exchange with him when he left Clio unannounced last winter, bringing

Demands Release 'Forthwith' Of Airmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Friday fired at Red China an unusually tough note demanding release "forthwith" of 13 Americans. It hinted that American patience might be near exhaustion.

The message denounced as "wrongful" the Chinese Communist's condemnation last Tuesday of 11 U. S. airmen and 2 U. S. civilians to prison terms ranging from four years to life. It scoffed at the Red Chinese charges of espionage as "without foundation."

And it said detention of the men "is in patent violation of the Korean armistice agreement" as well as recognized international rules for treatment of war prisoners and civilians. The 13 had fallen into Communist hands during the Korean War.

The U. S. note said Peiping will be held accountable for redress to the men and their families. It said the United States reserves the right to claim compensation as may be determined appropriate and to demand the punishment of the Chinese Communist officials responsible.

In implying that American patience is not inexhaustible, the note said:

"The Chinese Communist authorities should bear in mind that the long list of Chinese Communist outrages against American nationals, which the American people have borne with restraint thus far, is significantly extended by the Chinese Communist announcement of Nov. 23."

That announcement told of the Americans being sentenced as spies.

The Red Peiping radio Friday broadcast what it said were extracts from their trial record. "The U. S. spies admitted having received specialist training in espionage and guerrilla warfare," Peiping said.

Of the two civilians sentenced, Peiping said both confessed they were trained as agents by the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency. The Defense Department has identified them as civilian employees of the Army.

Friday's U. S. note was dispatched by a circuitous route since the United States has never recognized the government of Red China. It was directed to Peiping by way of London, where it was handed the Red Chinese mission by the British Foreign Office.

Gales Lash British Isles

LONDON (AP)—Waters gales swamped the south of England and the Midlands Friday and seven merchant ships at sea around the British Isles were reported in distress Friday night.

Coast Guardsmen said it was the worst storm in recent years. Gale warnings were up in all British sea areas. The danger peaked the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary to her berth in Southampton.

Inland, torrential gales hit most of southern England and the Midlands, stalling road and rail traffic and leaving thousands of acres under water.

INTER-AMERICAN SHOWROOM

The United States does more than $7 billion worth of trade a year with Latin America, a greater volume than with any other part of the world. Consequently, any project designed seriously to foster further growth of that trade merits broad support.

The new Inter-American trade and cultural center at Miami appears to be such a project. This ambitious development is aimed at promoting trade relations among the Americas by providing a spectacular display case for both U. S. and Latin-American wares and by affording businessmen and government people a chance to rub elbows both casually and officially in a friendly setting.

Now in the financing stage, the Inter-American center is planned as a privately operated but publicly guided $200-million project. It would occupy an 1800-acre site on the north edge of Biscayne Bay, in the heart of the Miami area's most recent population growth.

Sponsors of the center envisage it as a kind of world's fair on the New York-Chicago-San Francisco pattern, except that it would be a continuing, ever-changing exposition. The center would take full advantage of Miami's climate and lush vegetation to give the project a dazzling architectural scheme in a subtropical background.

Business analysts who have studied the plan consider it financially feasible. Noting the million-plus population of Florida's "Gold Coast" on the Atlantic, the several million tourists who pour into the region every year, and Miami's accessibility from the whole Western Hemisphere (it is near the population center), these specialists foresee an average attendance of 10 million visitors a year on a continuing basis.

The planners have tried to learn from the successes and failures of other fairs. They want their project studied with attractions like beaches, boating facilities, picnic areas. They want the industrial exhibits so deftly designed and unified that the visitor will be irresistibly drawn through the entire fair.

If these features can give the center a solid core of attendance, the sponsors are confident the project will be self-supporting, and that both U. S. and Latin-American manufacturers and merchants will find the center an unparalleled "showroom" meeting place.

Besides this underlying serious trade purpose, the Inter-American center is counted upon to develop and improve cultural relations among the Americas. It is to become a sort of "international house" of the Western Hemisphere, where greater understanding may flourish among men who have not always understood one another.

Congress voiced its official approval of the project by adopting a resolution affirming the "prime necessity" for such a center. The State of Florida created a special center authority to develop the plan. Latin-American nations have given every sign of eager support and participation.

It will be a good thing for this country and for our Latin neighbors when the Inter-American center gets "over the hump" and becomes a reality.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California is following in the footsteps of the late Sen. Taft of Ohio when every once in a while, asserting his independence, he gets in President Eisenhower's hair.

Before he died in 1953 Taft, Knowland's predecessor as Republican leader in the Senate, was considered Eisenhower's mainstay in getting cooperation from Senate Republicans.

Nevertheless, Taft must have joined the President several times with statements either critical of Eisenhower's judgment or contrary to his policy. Taft was a man who spoke his mind when it suited him, which was often.

Knowland, too, has worked hard for Eisenhower. But several times he has complicated life for the man in the White House by issuing statements on what he thought the administration's foreign policy should be.

Eisenhower has handled Taft and Knowland carefully. But this week, after getting some more free advice from Knowland publicly, the President publicly issued a reminder that under the Constitution he's responsible for foreign policy.

Taft, who repeatedly sought the Republican nomination for president, had a national following. Knowland hasn't reached that stature yet. But no one can accuse him of just being a Taft imitator.

In Eisenhower's first month in office, long before Knowland became Senate leader, the California senator expressed his views publicly on how to win the Korean War. He wanted the China coast blockaded. Eisenhower didn't see it that way.

Since his job as Senate leader is to help push through the administration programs in Congress, Knowland often consults privately with the President.

But it is not known whether the senator consulted privately on the matter. Knowland issued some public statements which appeared to contradict Eisenhower's policy.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Holiday mus-

Join the movies and see the world. That's still Hollywood's slogan, despite the end of the 18-month tax deal for overseas workers. The studios are still using foreign productions to get exotic locales—and also to thaw some frozen coin in various places.

A glance at the production schedule shows 37 movies at work. But 11 are in foreign lands. Three are in London, two in Mexico, and one apiece in Manila, Hong Kong, Egypt, Monte Carlo, Munich and Weisbaden. Working in the overseas films are such stars as Clark Gable, Jane Russell, Gregory Peck, Shelley Winters and Joseph Cotton. No wonder the local unions are campaigning against "run-away" filming.

Wonder why Marion Brando played Napoleon with a British accent in "Desiree"? Did he fear that a bit of Stanley Kowalski might creep into his little corporal? Or is this part of the 20th Century-Fox philosophy that all classical figures must speak in British tones?

There is no evidence to support the thinking that Napoleon, early Egyptians, Biblical figures and medieval knights sounded like a breath of old Piccadilly. Let it take a lesson from sister studio, Universal, International. Now there's a place that will let its classical heroes talk in the Bronx and Brooklyn lingo of Tony Curtis and Jeff Chandler.

That's I can't get used to. The sight of Zachary Scott wearing a loop of gold in his pierced ear at the legit opening of "Sailor's Delight."

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The elderly man and his wife entered the restaurant, sat down at a table for two, and ordered the Thanksgiving Day special dinner, price $4 including choice of dessert.

"Not very many people here," said his wife.

"Ummmm," replied her husband, knowing in advance the way the conversation might turn. He looked at her worriedly as she ate her appetizer in silence.

"It feels strange eating a Thanksgiving dinner in a restaurant," she said.

"Yes, we've never done this before."

"Oh, yes, we did—the first year we were married. Don't you remember? I can remember everything about it. We ate at that little place around the corner from our apartment. The dinner was $1.25 each, the turkey was underdone, and you spilled some gravy on your new suit and got very angry."

He marveled again, as he had so many times during their marriage, at the terrible retentiveness of her memory—the thousands of little details about their lives together she held imprinted indelibly in her mind and would never let go.

The waiter brought the plates of turkey then, and the husband watched as his wife, lost in reverie, toyed at it with her fork.

"Try the turkey, dear, it's really pretty good," he said, and then as he saw the look on her face, he added hastily, "—that is, considering it was cooked in a restaurant."

But she only pecked at it absent-mindedly.

"I should think after all these years of cooking Thanksgiving dinners, you'd be glad of a chance to escape all that bother," he upbraided her gently. "Anyway, we can't expect the children to come home every year. They've got their own family responsibilities."

"It's just that I feel lost without them," she said. "But of course it wouldn't have made sense for us to travel such a long distance just to spend a weekend with either Jim or Sis."

Then both fell silent, unwilling to admit even to each other the injury they felt that neither of their children, Jim or Sis, had written to ask them to come.

The waiter came to take the plates away and asked, "Is there anything wrong with the turkey?"

"Oh, no," she said. "It's very good. It's just that I'm not very hungry."

The husband called the waiter aside and whispered an order to him.

"Do you know which Thanksgiving I cooked for the most people?" said the wife. "Well, it was in 1926. We had a 22-pound turkey and there were 18 people all told. My, what a time that was. The Browns brought their little boy along, and three days later he came down with the measles, and I was frightened to death that Sue and Jim had caught them, too."

Warned by the heartiness of reminiscing, she ate every bit of her dessert—pumpkin pie and vanilla ice cream. Then she looked up startled as the smiling waiter arrived with a bottle of chilled champagne and expertly popped out the cork.

"Surprise!" said her husband.

"I've never had champagne before for Thanksgiving," she said, pleased, picking up the cork.

"Well, the only way to stay young is to do new things," he said.

"They lifted their bubbling glasses and tinkled them lightly together."

"To you, mother!"

"You, dad!"

But as he looked at his wife's grey eyes—eyes that now matched her hair—he saw them flood suddenly and overflow, and quick tears ran down her cheeks. To keep from crying himself, he tried to count her tears. But they ceased as suddenly as they had started. She wiped her eyes, and they finished the champagne in silence.

"Now let's go home," she said, and she gave him a smile of timeless love and reached over and patted his hand.

"I think I'll keep the champagne cork for a souvenir. No, I won't either. I'll mail it to one of the children so that they'll know, even though we missed not being with them, we had a fine Thanksgiving."

"That's right," said her husband. "They're probably worrying about us right this minute, and we wouldn't want them to think we were lonely."

Leg Cramps in Elderly People Are Generally The Result of Hardening of the Arteries

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

What is evidently a common and troublesome ailment, namely cramps in the legs at night, is mentioned in two letters, excerpts from which follow.

Q—I am troubled with cramps in my legs and feet at night so much I try bathing them in warm water and rubbing them but it does not help. What would you suggest? R.D.

Q—I am middle aged and for several years have had trouble with my legs going numb and cramping, especially at night. This does not bother me in the day. What should I do? Mrs. A. H.

A—In elderly people this unpleasant condition is usually associated with poor circulation resulting from hardening of the arteries of the lower extremities or from spasms of the blood vessels there. Contrary to what one might expect, but for sound physiological reasons, these types of cramps may be brought on by the warmth of the bed.

However, cramps in the lower extremities at night are not confined to the elderly. They occur quite often in pregnancy. They may be related to the blood sugar—the longest period between meals ordinarily occurs at night. Lessened quantities of calcium in the blood may be associated with these cramps also and it is said that most of those who have them consume little or no milk which is one of the most important sources of calcium in the diet. The precise method of attempting to relieve such discomforts depends on these, and possibly other, factors and will probably vary from person to person.

Q—I have some rosacea of the nose and face. Please advise what can be done for this condition? R. J.

A—There are several possible lines of treatment. Sometimes astringents are prescribed. X-ray treatment may be useful in some. I should consider that self-treatment would be most inadvisable because of the dangers of making it worse.

Q—Can a person who has had one kidney removed be as active as before and play tennis, swim or take violent exercise? G. O.

A—Nature has been kind in giving us more kidney tissue than we normally need. Consequently a person who has one healthy kidney remaining can—unless there are special medical reasons—live a perfectly normal life.

Q—I have been told that the constant wearing of tennis shoes can have harmful effects on the vision but that this does not hold true for shoes with a rubber sole providing a leather insole is used. Is there any truth in this statement? Reader.

A—I do not know of any truth in the statement. It is possible that wearing tennis shoes might not be good for the feet, but I fail to see how it could have any effect on the vision.

Q—Could rotten teeth in a pregnant woman cause some congenital defect in her baby? Mrs. B. B.

Old Soldiers—Fall Guy—Firings—Union Strength—Red Plot—Bonds

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Eisenhower cribbed and disguised a line from Gen. Douglas MacArthur when introducing Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving, new head of the American Council to Improve Our Neighborhoods at the first ACN luncheon in Washington.

"We old soldiers are, after all, supposed to fade away," said Ike. "But we just reappear."

At His First Press conference since the big rumpus over his "hound dog" crack during the campaign, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson took a sharp dig at reporters. He was discussing international tensions and said the U. S. should not add heat to them.

You guys, you know are guilty of adding heat to them sometimes, too," said the secretary, deadpan. Then he added, "But you usually get some fall guy to hang it on."

The Final Report of the old Loyalty Review Board gives a clue to the number of Truman administration employees fired or forced to resign under the Eisenhower administration security program.

When it went out of business May 28, 1953, the board had 1776 loyalty investigation cases, uncompleted. They were turned over to the various government agencies for handling under the new security clearance regulations.

The Civil Service Commission's consolidated report on security cases handled between May 28, 1953, and June 30, 1954, shows 1743 files of government employees containing information on subversive activities or associations. There is no breakdown on the number of these who were fired or who were forced to resign.

But the total is by coincidence very close to the number of Truman administration loyalty cases turned over to the Eisenhower administration.

American Federation of Labor's League for Political Education has come up with an analysis that the unions will next year have 23 more friends in the House and four more friends in the Senate than they had during the 83rd Congress, but they still won't have a majority.

According to the LLPE count, there were 153 pro-labor congressmen in the House last year, and 265 anti-labor. Next year there will be 176 pro-labor and 235 anti-labor.

The Senate score was 36 pro-labor to 56 anti-labor. Next Congress it will be 40 pro-labor to 52 anti-labor. Not enough change to do much.

Not enough change to do much. Americans now live in dry areas.

Although H bombs have been available since April, 1952, less than $1 billion worth have been sold, as compared to over $36 billion of E bonds outstanding. Treasury officials are still trying to work out plans which will permit H bonds to be held in personal trust funds, and sold under payroll deductions as the E bonds are now sold.

Temperance Officials claim they have won more than half of the local option elections held since the repeal of prohibition, 20 years ago. There have been over 36,000 local option elections, and the drags have won 21,000 of them, according to Dr. Caroline R. Hooton, executive secretary of Methodist Board of Temperance.

The breakdown on 926 local option elections in 21 states during the past year shows 333 voting dry, no change; 84 wet; 338 voting dry, and 64 dry voting wet. The net dry gain is 26 elections. At least 25 million Americans now live in dry areas.

One Jacksonville youth was injured fatally, and two others were hurt when this 1948 Chevrolet collided with a parked truck Thursday night in the 800 block on North Main street. The automobile upset in the street after the impact. Donald Combs, 20, of 633 Henry street, died at 11 o'clock Friday morning from multiple fractures and shock. The other occupants of the car, James J. Conover and Earl McMeans, were recovering at Our Saviour's hospital from painful but not serious injuries.

Nazarene Church Teams Make $110 For Missions

Last Sunday morning marked the close of a contest to raise funds for the Thanksgiving offering at the Church of the Nazarene. The contest effort had been stimulated by the enthusiastic leadership of Mrs. Kate Toler and Mrs. Anton Ends, captains of the two sides. When the fund was counted at the close of the day, $110 had been given to the Thanksgiving offering, sponsored by the Nazarene Foreign Missionary Society for the cause of missions.

A tree, the arbiter of Vonna Merritt, was decorated with red and yellow apples by the president of the missionary society, Mrs. Calvin Buchanan, as the captains of the two teams turned in the money they had collected.

The contest winners were Mrs. A. Ends and the yellow team. They will be feted to a Christmas party by the red team in the near future.

A party marking the beginning of week-day activity for the Junior Department of the Church of the Nazarene was given Friday evening, Nov. 19th at the parsonage. Games were led by Mrs. Merritt, teacher of the junior class, and Mrs. A. Ends. Refreshments were served to 13 children. Among those attending were Vicki, Patricia and Dick Stotts, Elsie Hayes, Aubrey Dean Buchanan, Ronald Bourn, Ruth Tuttle, Sammy Dickman, Judy, Ronnie, Fred and Wayne Martin, and Larry Hill. Mrs. Merritt and Rev. and Mrs. A. Ends.

Good Road Pioneer To Be Feted At 91

CHICAGO (P)—William G. Edens, civic leader and pioneer good roads organizer, will be honored on his 91st birthday Saturday at a luncheon in the Chicago Press Club. Edens, who has been a banker, union organizer and government official, in 1912 headed a state organization which backed the first 60 million dollar bond issue to "pull Illinois out of the mud." Later he promoted hard surface highways through the nation. Cook County's first expressway, running northwest from Chicago to the Lake County line, was named for Edens. He was in the banking business for 27 years with the late Gen. Charles G. Dawes.

In a Supreme Court decision, the opinions of all the justices bear equal weight.

$92,000 In Jewelry Stolen From Safe

WEST ORANGE, N. J. (P)—Police Thursday night reported the theft of $92,000 in jewelry from the home of wealthy manufacturer Anthony DeSiderio.

The loot, police said, was taken from a small wall safe in a bedroom closet by thieves who may have telephoned the home before they broke in through a window.

DeSiderio is one of seven brothers associated in the ownership and operation of four paper board manufacturing plants in Whippany and Clifton, N. J., and Durham, Pa.

Biblical Scholars Termed Betting On Horses A Robbery

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (P)—Medieval biblical scholars considered it robbery if a person bet on the horses or played dice. But they just wrote it off as a waste of time if you rolled dice with a heathen.

Their view was among laws listed in "The Book of Torts," part of the codification of Jewish laws found in the code of Maimonides compiled by Rabbi Moses Ben Maimon in the 12th century.

A new translation of the code has just been published by the Yale University press. "The Book of Torts" contains these sections: "If persons play with domestic or wild animals or birds and stipulate that the one whose animal wins or runs faster should receive an agreed amount from the other, or make any similar wager, this is forbidden and deemed robbery on the authority of the Scribes."

"If persons play with blocks of wood or stone or bone or the like and stipulate that the winner of the game receives a certain amount from the other, this is deemed robbery on the authority of the Scribes, even though the winner gets his winnings with the consent of the owner."

"Playing with dice with a heathen does not involve robbery but entails the prohibition of wasting time on useless pursuits, for it is not fitting for a person to spend any part of his life other than on gaining knowledge and furthering civilization."

ANTI-SEMITISM IN GERMANY
BERLIN (P)—West German societies for Christian-Jewish cooperation warned the Bonn government and the German people today that nationalistic and anti-Semitic sentiments are mounting again in Germany.

Mrs. Sarah Long Of New Berlin Dies Thursday

Mrs. Sarah Long, 83, of New Berlin, mother of J. A. Long, Jacksonville druggist, died at 9:15 Thursday night at Our Saviour's hospital where she had been a patient since last June 17th.

Mrs. Long was born April 15, 1871 at Pleasant Plains, the daughter of Jacob and Freda Klotz. She was married on April 29, 1890 to William Long at Pleasant Plains. He died Jan. 24, 1950.

She is survived by five children. They are: Mrs. Carl Horn and J. A. Long, both of Jacksonville; Walter and Adolph Long of New Berlin and William J. Long of St. Louis. There are 14 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren. Two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Bachmann and Miss Minnie Klotz, both of Pleasant Plains, also survive along with several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Long was a life time member of the St. John's Lutheran church in New Berlin.

The body was taken to the McCullough funeral home in New Berlin where friends may call. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at St. John's church in New Berlin with the Rev. N. P. Uhlig of Jacksonville officiating. Burial will be made in the Woodworth cemetery at Island Grove. The body will be taken to the church to lie in state from 1 p.m. to time of service.

PHILIPPINE BAPTIST TO SPEAK AT WHITE HALL SCHOOL CHURCH

WHITE HALL—A special speaker will appear at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night, Dec. 2, at the Calvary Baptist church in White Hall. He is Gregorio Tinson of the Philippines, who has been called "The Billy Graham of the Philippines."

He will address high school students at White Hall high school in the early afternoon on Dec. 2. The general public is cordially invited to attend the evening service.

SOLID TAXES

GIBRALTAR, Mich. (P)—This little community stands solid as its namesake rock these days after villagers voted for incorporation. The move was designed to reap some $135,000 in village taxes yearly from a steel company, which is building a $12 million plant within the town limits.

Without the charter, the village would not be eligible to collect the taxes.

HOT MUSIC?

SCRANTON, Pa. (P)—A lot of hot air comes out of a radio or TV tube. A manufacturer heats half of a 200,000-square-foot building from 64 tube-testing sets. The sets "give off enough heat to warm 130 six-room houses," company engineers say.

Me, afraid of the dark?

My name is Mary . . . and I want you to know I'm not afraid to go to bed by myself.

I have a bright candle to light my way. I have Mommy and Daddy to care for me.

But do you really want to know why I'm not afraid?

In Sunday School, I learned about Jesus. I know he loves me and watches over me.

At night when I blow out the candle, and Mommy and Daddy are away, I am not alone. Jesus is with me. I remember how he said long ago to his disciples: "Let the little children come unto me . . . for to such belongs the Kingdom of Heaven."

I wonder if your children know about Jesus? Won't you take them to Sunday School next Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without it, we cannot survive. There are two sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Must Interest Children To Get Them To Go, Two Mothers Decide

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—When you have to drag little Johnny to Sunday school by the scruff of the neck, you might conclude either that Johnny is a bad boy—or the Sunday school is a flop.

A couple of spirited young Connecticut mothers, convinced the fault usually lies with the Sunday school, today are doing a bit of crusading to make it more attractive for children.

Their idea is that church school classes for youngsters can be both winsome—and worshipful—at the same time. That is, if the grown-ups will quit trying to run everything in their own somber way. "Sunday school can be the big event of the week for children," said Mrs. Agnes Leckie Mason, who has five children of her own. "But it has to be in their line, in a form within their own experiences."

She and Mrs. Phyllis Brown Ohanian have researched the subject both in theory and practice—the theory blossoming into a book and the practice into a Westport, Conn., church packed with kids.

"Many Sunday schools are too grim," said Mrs. Ohanian. "It's a holdover from Puritan days. If children get the impression that religion is dull, they leave the church as they grow older."

The field is a broad one covering some 30 million children who attend Sunday classes in this country—more or less willingly or unwillingly.

Basic thesis of the two teachers, who have become virtual religious pied-pipers to the small fry of Westport's Saugatuck Congregational Church, is that religion for children can be fun.

"Giving them a positive, pleasant approach toward religion is of basic importance," said Mrs. Mason. "Their underlying attitude toward the church is greatly determined by experiences at this age."

She and Mrs. Ohanian, in assembling their manual of children's hymns, devotions and games called "God's Wonderful World," said they sought to put in concrete form some principles about children, including:

1. That fear and compulsion don't produce reverence, or build stable Christian foundations, and that Sunday schools thus should be run so children want to come—not because they have to.

2. That youngsters actually have a natural eagerness for religion, and that to them, learning about God and His world can be an eye-opening adventure.

3. That for it to be this way, Christianity has to be translated into a special "child's realm"—simple words, familiar objects, illustrations and actions.

"It's pointless to set a child down and expect him to absorb a lot of theoretical material and then recite it back to the teacher," said Mrs. Ohanian, a pretty brunette mother of three.

In the first place, it bores them. "The emphasis," Mrs. Mason said, "should be on applying ideas to the actual activities of children, to their own relationship to life as they see it, not as grownups see it."

One of the big shortcomings the Connecticut teachers said they found was the lack of religious songs children could understand and feel—and children like to sing.

So they've packed their book with songs glorifying the simple things—the home, family, the minister, flowers—appealing little pieces like "God Made Me." "Sharing," "Thank You, God, for the Snow," and "The Wonder Song."

Mrs. Ohanian, a musician, composed the melodies, or drew them from old folk tunes, and Mrs. Mason, the words. Most of them in-clude directions for accompanying gestures by the children.

"Dramatization comes naturally to children," the teachers said. "They like to be the things they are talking about."

For example, in the song "The Creation," they can flap their arms to indicate birds, and hold up their fingers for blades of grass.

Greene County History Society Elects Martin

CARROLLTON—T. A. Martin of Carrollton was elected president of the Greene County Historical Society at the annual election of officers held in the Public Library, and attended by 30 members of the organization. Other officers elected were Mrs. Howard Hobson, Greenfield, vice president; Mrs. Charles Neal, Carrollton, secretary and John J. Eldred, Carrollton, and John J. Eldred, Carrollton, were reelected treasurer.

Congressman Sid Simpson, the retiring president, gave a talk in which he discussed the history of Greene county and the necessity of preserving some of the historical documents and articles used on the early days. Congressman Simpson also stressed the need of a building in which items of historical interest could be housed and where the Historical Society could hold meetings at designated times.

A short talk was also made by S. E. Pierson concerning the restoration of the Belltown church and the society donated the sum of $10 to the restoration fund.

on THINGS & STUFF

Do you find it difficult to design a novel table decoration? Most people do. (So do we.)

Here is an idea that may help during the early winter and mid-winter months. Frosty the Snowman can hold a lighted candle or small electric light bulb way down deep in his insides. He is 11 inches tall and should be the center of attraction. However he does look rather lonely and unloved (as do most snowmen) so it will be necessary to surround him with evergreen, bright tinsel and ribbon in order to warm his old heart. Then, when he is aglow with inward light, serenity and peace will prevail around your table. (We wonder whether you won't be a little proud, too.) Frosty costs only $2.45 and can be used with other decorations than those just mentioned, for many early and mid-winter occasions.

You don't be a little proud, too! You may well ask "Why can't Frosty the Snowman be the center of attraction in the late winter months?" The answer is, "By the time late winter rolls around, who wouldn't be more pleased by a reminder of spring?"

Group discussions will be led by B. D. Middleton, legislative chairman, Southwestern division IEA; G. F. R. G. finance chairman of the same; Mrs. Florence Doran Kenny, public relations chairman; Olin Stead, vice president; and L. V. Kinser, supt. com. Unit 40, Harbin.

Consultants will be Mr. Grimm, Mr. Vick, Miss Laura Ashens, assistant secretary of teacher retirement system, Springfield.

Guest Sunday Nov. 28
Nov. 28 of "Go to Church" pro-

will be "Guest Sunday." Each church will try to get as many guests as possible to the services. Competition will continue to ascertain which church can get the greatest percentage of increase at both Sunday school and church.

The Christian church was the winner of the Sunday school competition and the Methodist of the church competition last Sunday.

The percentages for churches for Sunday school were as follows: Christian 49.1%; Baptist church 12.9%; Methodist church 6.4%; Presbyterian 4.1%; Lutheran 3.7%; Catholic 3.2%; Episcopal 2.8%; United Methodist 2.4%; and others 1.4%.

Entertain At Shower
Mrs. Thomas Meekley and granddaughter, Miss Ardita Ballard, who resides in her grandmother's home, entertained Monday night with a luncheon shower for one of Ardita's classmates, Miss Joyce Lawson, a senior in the local high school, who will become the bride of Frank Guntzen, Jerseyville, on Dec. 24.

The party was held in the fellowship room of the First Baptist church where baskets in blue and cream were arranged on a table beneath a window draped with matching crepe paper streamers tied back with large bows. The gifts overflowed the containers and were presented to the guest of honor at the conclusion of the evening.

Janet Young, accompanied by Mrs. H. L. Janvin, sang "Always" to the recipient of the shower. Mrs. Janvin also directed the games during the social hour.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst
The question now arises whether Winston Churchill has done himself more good by citing another case of his famous presence or more harm by emphasizing at this time his long-standing suspicions of Russia.

Churchill has now revealed that the reason he asked Gen. Eisenhower in 1945 to take good care of surrendered German arms was because he feared they might be needed to rearm the German against the Russians.

He feared the Red armies, despite all agreements, might continue advancing into Europe after the German surrender. He urged Gen. Montgomery to hurry into Denmark to prevent its occupation by the Eastern Allies, and mentioned the German rearmament idea to him, but not to Eisenhower.

He injected his touch of history into a speech Tuesday night Thursday's government-supporting and vastly influential London Times took him sharply to task for doing so. "What on earth made him say that?" asked the Times. "It will not help to convince the Russians that the Western Powers are straightforward in their declarations of peace today," by suggesting that we were ready to Nazi-indoctrinated troops in 1945 will it help the cause of West (man rearmament now."

Political opponents are suggesting that Churchill's suspicious attitude may have heightened 1945's own suspicions of the out world and so contributed to cold war.

On this point the record is rather clear. Despite the fact that A propaganda agencies were putting out talk of a brave new world with Russian cooperation, and President Roosevelt firmly leveled in the idea until just before the war's end the direction in which she was headed. Her times, and their manifestation the Nazi-Soviet pact of 1939, it plain to those who were wise to see.

Churchill had ample reason, his fears. As for revealing them at time, when so many are he against hope that the recent line of sweetness and represents real change rather hypocrisy, the results are prot actual. The Reds might be against the whole Western world or they might merely ignore something that happened 10 ago, during an earlier Kire regime.

At any rate, the West is de strating in emphatic fashion current fear that Russia will advancing into Europe, and now actually getting around ward German rearmament. child's words can hardly hel the effect of that, good or ba Russian policy.

Burial Rites For Pike Resident

PITTSFIELD—Services for Mrs. Alta Lora Dye, 67, of New Salem, were held at the Skinner Funeral Home in Griggsville Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with burial in Gray cemetery near New Salem.

Mrs. Dye, the widow of Ora Dye, an auctioneer, who preceded her in death in 1931, had been in declining health for some time. She entered Illinois hospital Monday evening and died soon afterward, at 8:50. She was born in Pike county September 27, 1887, and was married to Mr. Dye in 1904.

She is survived by one son, Kyle Dye of Hannibal, Mo., and four grandchildren.

Admitted To Probation

Gerald Smith, of El Dara, who was charged with arson by the November grand jury, alleging that he set fire to and burned a church building near El Dara, and was found guilty by his own plea of guilty when arraigned, came into court on Tuesday to hear the decision of Judge A. Clay Williams on his request for probation. His request was granted upon the recommendation of Hiram McKenna, probation officer, after his investigation. Smith posted a bond of $500, with Clay Erick of El Dara as surety.

"Holiday" is a contracted form of "holy day."

WANTED: MORE ADVICE

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's lawyers would like to find out why they aren't called upon when people get in trouble. A committee of the state bar says half the people have never seen a lawyer. Many say the committee feel lawyers charge too much—a belief the committee feels is unfounded.

White Hall Royal Neighbors Host Two Area Camps

PATTERSON — The Patterson and Hillview Royal Neighbors Camps were guests of the White Hall Royal Neighbors at a meeting held Tuesday evening, November 23 at the I.O.O.F. lodge room in White Hall. Eight members were present from Hillview and twelve members from Patterson.

Following the lodge session the group adjourned to the dining room and played bingo, with prizes for each winner, after which refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, coffee and tea were served.

Ladies attending from Patterson were Mrs. Mildean Bruce, Mrs. Minnie Steelman, Mrs. Bertha Nicholson, Mrs. Nona Owdom, Mrs. Helen Bain and daughter, Shirley, Mrs. Cora Bain, Mrs. Laura Dawdy, Mrs. Lida Dawdy, Mrs. Bea Taylor, Mrs. Mildred Wilkinson and Mrs. Mildred Dawdy, who lives in White Hall, but is a member of Patterson Camp.

Son Born

Mrs. Nona Owdom has received word of the birth of a son on November 17 to her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Marshall, who reside in Ada, Okla. The child weighed 9 lbs. and 4 oz. and has been named David Alan. He is the fourth child and second son. The paternal grandmother, Mrs. Juanita Marshall, formerly of Patterson and White Hall, is staying in her son's home at present.

Two Are Six

A party was held recently in Mrs. Lela Hubbard's primary room at school, honoring the birthdays of two of her pupils, Dale Sorrells and Michael Dawdy. Both boys were six-years-old on November 10, and this is their first year in school. The mothers of the boys, Mrs. Leslie Sorrells and Mrs. Paul W.

Dawdy, were present with a birthday cake for each, which was served to their classmates together with soda pop.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bain and family, of Belleville, who visited relatives here Saturday, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Cora Bain, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bain and daughter, in New Berlin.

Rev. Dickinson and Z. I. Crouse, both of Curryville, Mo., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Koonitz and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fry of Peoria were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Burley Fry.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hicks and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnett and son, Gary, and Mrs. Nona Owdom were Sunday visitors in Jacksonville with Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKinney, honoring the latter on his 25th birthday which was Nov. 19. Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Owdom of Jacksonville, were present also.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Witty spent Sunday in Mt. Sterling with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Witty and family.

Harold Coker of Macomb and Miss Judith Wade of Springfield were weekend visitors with his mother, Mrs. Naomi Coker and son Raymond.

Mrs. Ada Barlow of Johnson City called on Mrs. Fairy Martin Thursday afternoon and on Saturday afternoon Mrs. A. Brown of St. Louis called.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Dunlap and son, Vernon, spent Saturday in Alton with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tolbert.

Mrs. Anna McClenning and daughter, Gertrude, spent from Thursday until Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl McClenning and daughter, Annamary, in Orion, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Nehrhorn of Savanna, Ill., were visitors in the McClenning home also.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith and Clement Smith and mother, Mrs. Anne Smith, of near Pittsfield were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Fairy Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Goacher and family of Valley City were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Dawdy and family. Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGlasen and daughter, Shirley, of White Hall were afternoon visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith and Mr. and Mrs. John Wells of near Alsey were Sunday visitors with Miss Lora Hahn.

Mrs. Cora Bain accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Steelman and son and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haney of Glasgow, to New Berlin Sunday, where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bain and daughter.

Mrs. John Leitze and daughter of Glasgow, were recent visitors with Mrs. Anna McClenning and daughter, Gertrude.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Houghton and Mrs. Alta Young of near Roodhouse visited Tuesday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Vete Augur.

SAUCER TROUBLES

TEHRAN (AP)—Reports of "Flying Saucers" in and near Iran's capital brought this plea from Tehran's English-language Tehran Journal:

"One version is that the flying objects are some kind of new secret weapon being tried out by various countries. If this is so, then we say: Try your weapons wherever you please but keep out of Asia in general and Iran in particular. PLEASE! We've got enough troubles already."

MAY GET NEW JOB—Harold MacMillan has been mentioned as a possible successor to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. MacMillan is at present Britain's Minister of Housing and Local Government. The shift may take place because Eden at present holds three major positions.

HOPEFUL—Pretty blue-eyed Delouis Faulkner, daughter of an Oklahoma cattle rancher, has her eyes set on a beauty title. She is competing for the crown of "Maid of Cotton," which will be awarded in Memphis, Tenn., on Jan. 4.

TAKING A DIP—While most of the nation shivers, Lois Shicora, right, enjoys a "cool" smoke and a nice dip with a lifeguard along the beach in Long Beach, Calif. Water temperature was reportedly just right for Lois, a resident of Buffalo, N. Y.

Army-Navy Clash For 55th Time Today --- TV's Game Of Week

Report Orioles To Get Segrist, 2 Others In Deal

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles were reported Friday due to receive two young infielders and a lefthanded pitcher from the New York Yankees farm system as a windup to last week's million dollar deal.

Informed sources said third baseman Kal Segrist, pitcher Bill Miller and second baseman Don Leppert were slated for transfer to the Orioles to complete the three-for-nine deal.

Oriole officials refused comment on the report.

In New York, a Yankee spokesman said he would neither deny nor confirm the players named in the report were involved in the trade.

The Orioles earlier sent pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen and shortstop Billy Hunter to the Yankees.

In return the Orioles got outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda, catcher Hal Smith and Gus Triandos and pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald. The club officials said at the time of the trade three other players in the Yankee system would go to Baltimore at a later date.

Segrist, at Kansas City last year, batted .291. Leppert, at the Yankee farm in Birmingham, hit .313. Miller, a southpaw, started last season with the Yankees and later was placed on the disabled list.

Lou Boudreau Names Two Aides

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Two major league veterans, George Sisco and Oscar Melillo, Friday were named to the coaching staff of the Kansas City Athletics.

The selections were made by Manager Lou Boudreau and announced here by Parke Carroll, business manager.

Sisco, a catcher who spent 22 years in the majors, will be Boudreau's bullpen coach. Melillo, a former infielder, probably will be on the coaching lines.

MARANVILLE WIDOW DIES

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. Helena Maranville, 67, widow of baseball's famed Walter J. "Rabbit" Maranville, died Tuesday night.

She collapsed at the home of friends where she had spent the Thanksgiving holiday.

Her husband was voted into baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., shortly after his death last Jan. 6.

ADVERTISE—IT PAYS!

DWARFED—Giant chrysanthemums tower over Alan Crawford, 3, of Minneapolis, Minn., who is happy that he's taller than one of the flowers. More than 3500 plants, in every size and color, were on display at the chrysanthemum show.

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Army and Navy, the nation's top ranked offensive football teams, meet Saturday in a game that figures to be so close and unpredictable that even a scoreless tie wouldn't be too big a surprise.

Off the records, it should be an exciting, free-coming game between two teams that have averaged better than 30 points a game. But the only certainty is that the teams will play their hearts out before some 105,000 spectators in jam-packed Municipal Stadium.

This colorful spectacle always is a sell-out, and this year the interest has mounted amazingly as the Cadets and Midshipmen have compiled two of the best records in eastern football.

The game will be televised nationally as the NCAA game of the week and broadcast by radio to outlying military and naval installations as well as in the United States.

The kickoff is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. CST but the spectacle starts at 11 a.m. CST when the 2400 grey-clad members of Army's corps of cadets march into the big stadium. The regiment of midshipmen, 3,600 strong—hosts for this year's game—will parade in about 20 minutes later. The weather forecast is cloudy and cool, with afternoon temperatures in the 40s.

Army, winner of seven games since its opening loss to South Carolina, is a slight favorite. But there's no obvious reason for this favoritism. They're look - alike teams with explosive speed and almost equal records. Navy has won six games and lost two—by margins of a couple of missed points after touchdowns and by a goal-line fumble.

Army is ranked fifth and Navy sixth in the nation in this week's Associated Press poll.

Both coaches—Red Blaik of Army and Eddie Erdelatz of Navy—are expecting something new from the other side, and trying to prepare a few surprises of their own. There's just a possibility that they've worked so hard during the past two weeks figuring how to stop the other side that neither one will break through.

That appears most unlikely with backs like Army's Pete Vann, Bob Kyasky and Tommy Bell and Navy's George Weigh, Jack Weaver and Bob Craig operating behind a pair of fast-moving lines.

One highlight of the game is expected to be a duel of star ends, Army's Don Hollender and Navy's Ron Beagle. They're both great all-around performers and outstanding pass receivers. With Vann and Welsh pitching accurately at them, it seems impossible that they'll be covered all afternoon.

Part of Navy's eagerness stems from the fact that the midshipmen were favored a year ago but took a 20-7 licking. That gave the Cadets a 28-22 margin, with four ties, in a series that began in 1890.

3 Sign Up For Blue-Gray Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Two linemen and a fullback from Michigan State signed up Friday with the Yankee forces being recruited for the Christmas Day Blue-Gray game.

Joining the Blue squad were tackle Roland Dotch and end Don Kauth and backfield star Bill Postula.

Their selection brought the Northern roster to seven. The Rebels completed their squad earlier this month.

Ex-Spitballer Dies At 63

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—William L. "Bill" Doak, one of the last major league spitball pitchers, died suddenly Friday afternoon.

He had operated a confectionary shop here for several years.

Doak, 63, was found dead in a bathtub in his home, apparently of a heart attack. He pitched 17 years in the National League. He broke in with Cincinnati in 1912 and went to St. Louis the following year. In 1924 he moved to Brooklyn and pitched the rest of that season.

He finished his big league career with St. Louis in 1929.

Red Top Davis Whips Bassett In 12-Rounder

NEW YORK (AP)—Hartford's Teddy (Red Top) Davis earned a title shot at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler Friday night by cleverly outboxing Percy Bassett of Philadelphia in a 12-round elimination bout between the world's leading contenders. Each weighed 126 pounds, the featherweight limit.

Lower of two of three previous decisions to Bassett, the 31-year-old Connecticut veteran evened the count with his 24-year old rival by scoring a cleancut, unanimous decision in a nationally telecast bout from Madison Square Garden.

The votes, all for Davis, were: referee Al Berl and Frank Forbes, each 74-1 and judge Arthur Aidala, 8-31. The AP had Davis in front, 8-4.

Bullets Suspend Operations

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Bullets Friday night obtained permission from the National Basketball Assn. to suspend operations for the remainder of the 1954-55 season because of financial difficulties.

Under the arrangement, members of the Bullets' roster were distributed among the other eight clubs of the NBA with the Milwaukee Hawks, the club with the poorest record this season now that Baltimore has stepped out, picking up rookie Frank Selvy, currently the league's individual scoring leader.

The decision gave Baltimore officials the opportunity to return to the NBA next season if they obtain sufficient financial backing to operate satisfactorily.

Native Dancer 'Horse Of Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—Native Dancer, Alfred Vanderbilt's fleet 4-year-old who retired in August because of a foot injury, was voted "horse of the year" Friday in the 19th annual poll of Triangle Publications racing experts.

The Dancer received 19 of the 33 ballots cast by the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form experts. His closest competition came from the King Ranch's High Gun, with 11 votes.

Native Dancer, who won 21 of his 22 races, earned $41,320 this year to boost his total to $785,240. He retired to the stud in Maryland as the world's fourth leading money winner.

Golf Leaders Gather In St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Golf leaders from over the nation were gathering Friday for the weeklong annual meeting of the Professional Golfers Assn. Among early arrivals was Horton Smith, PGA president.

Delegates will discuss common problems, establish association policies and pick tournament dates and sites.

Saturday and Sunday will be devoted to committee meetings. Monday to the educational program, Tuesday to teaching and the final three days to delegate sessions.

FLOODS IN ENGLAND

LONDON (AP)—Rain-laden gales sweeping in from the Atlantic brought widespread floods to south-west England and the Midlands today.

Water covered dozens of roads and hundreds of motorists had to abandon their cars.

Ike Names Allen To Post In East, African Affairs

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today named George V. Allen, now ambassador to India, to be assistant secretary of state for Near East, South Asian and African affairs.

Allen will succeed Henry A. Byrd, who will become ambassador to Egypt, succeeding Jefferson Caffery, who is retiring.

The President announced at the Little White House here, where he is spending a long Thanksgiving weekend vacation, that the nominations will be sent to the Senate when the lawmakers convene again.

There had been speculation for weeks about the shuffling of top diplomatic posts. Some reports have suggested that John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican defeated for re-election to the Senate, might get Allen's post in India. Press Secretary James Hagerty had no comment on Allen's successor there.

Allen, 51, from Durham, N. C. has been a foreign service officer since 1931, starting as vice consul at Kingston, Jamaica.

Byrd, 41, from Maumee, Ind., goes to Egypt after serving as assistant secretary since 1952. Caffery is retiring after 43 years in the foreign service.

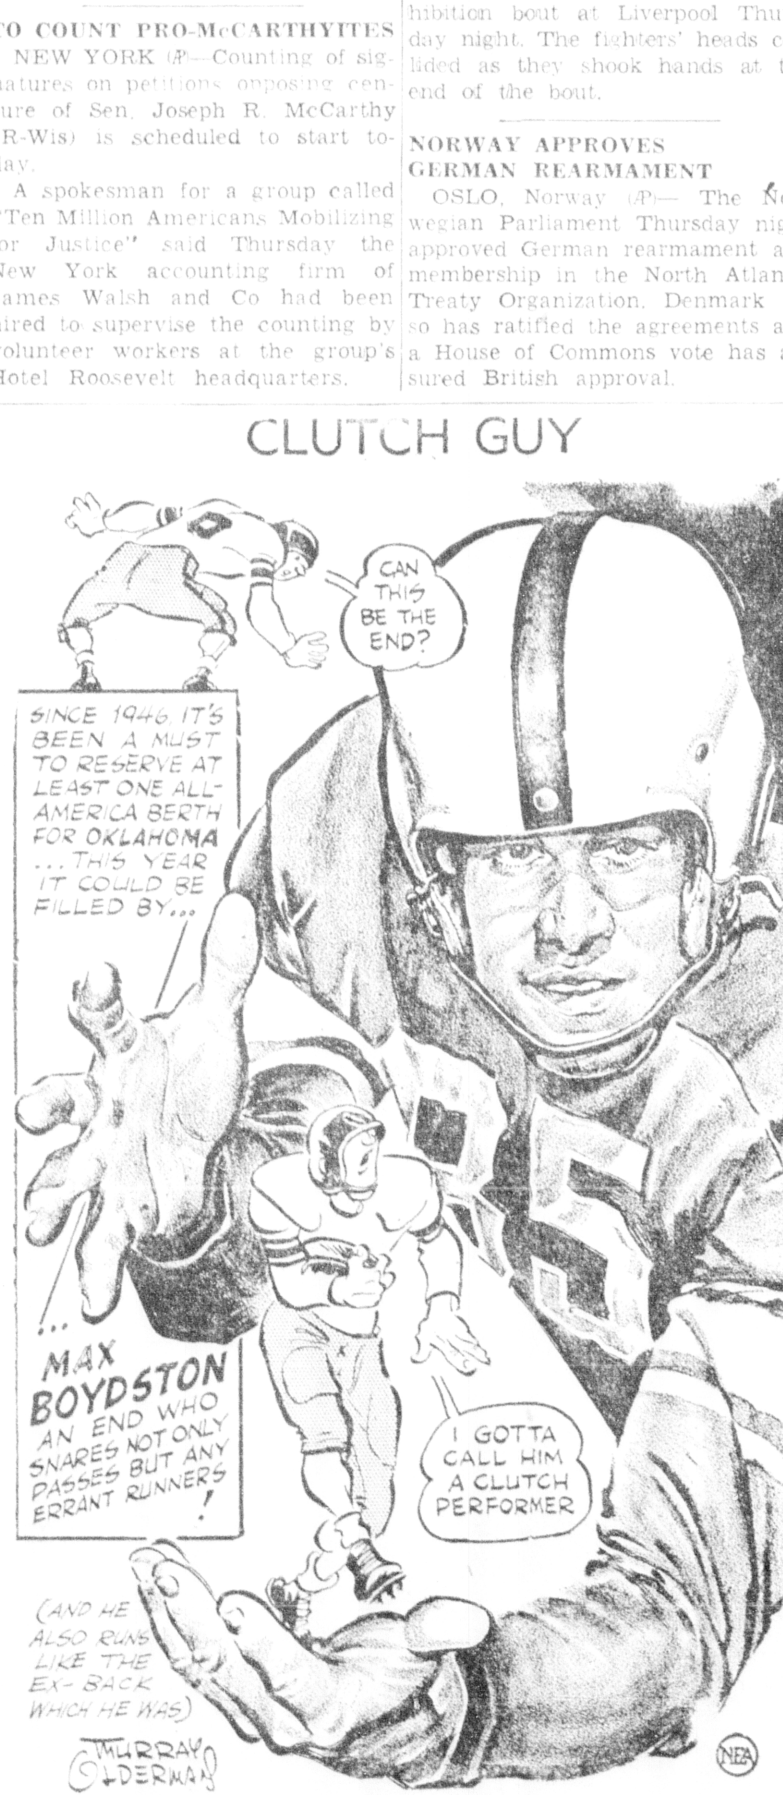

TURF WILL BE BAKED
TORONTO (AP)—The muddy turf at Varsity Stadium will be baked for Saturday's Grey Cup final, Canada's football World Series.

Officials said Friday radiant colored panels—industrial heating equipment—will move on to the field late Friday and remain until game time, if necessary.

The 24 heat-producing elements will be mounted on eight mobile racks.

TO COUNT PRO-McCARTHYITES
NEW YORK (AP)—Counting of signatures on petitions opposing censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is scheduled to start today.

A spokesman for a group called "Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice" said Thursday the New York accounting firm of James Walsh and Co. had been hired to supervise the counting by volunteer workers at the group's Hotel Roosevelt headquarters.

Eastern Service Championship Game Today

FT. BELVOIR, Va. (AP)—Bolling Air Force Base and the Army engineers from Ft. Belvoir clash Saturday in a football game that will determine the Eastern service championship. The winner automatically wins a spot in the all-service Pomsettia Bowl at San Diego, Calif., Dec. 19.

The game shapes up largely as a battle between two former teammates on Illinois' 1952 Rose Bowl champion, eleven: quarterbacks Tommy O'Connell of Bolling and Don Engels of Belvoir.

The Bolling backfield also includes Bill Reichardt of Iowa. The winner of Saturday's game will meet Ft. Ord, Calif., in the Pomsettia Bowl.

Montgomery, Ike Enjoy 43 Pound Bird

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today bade goodbye to his old comrade, Britain's Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, and then attacked a deficiency in his golf game.

Montgomery, who flew down with the President Wednesday for a Thanksgiving vacation at the National Golf Club, headed back for Washington early today in the President's new plane.

Eisenhower remained at the Little White House here to get in a little work at his office and try the links again. He returns to Washington Monday.

The President played golf Thursday with Montgomery put-putting around the course in a motor scooter. But the President "didn't do very well," in the words of Press Secretary James Hagerty.

Hagerty voiced a familiar golfer's lament—the President was out of practice, having played only once since he returned to Washington from Denver Oct. 15.

Eisenhower carved his Thanksgiving turkey, a 43-pound bird called "Kentucky Colonel," at an evening dinner with friends in the trophy room of the clubhouse. The menu included cranberries and other traditional Thanksgiving trimmings.

After dinner he played bridge in the two-story frame house built for his use just off the 10th tee.

Employees Cancel Pay Hike: Firm To Save $600,000

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Action by 500 AF employees in cancelling scheduled wage increases will save more than $600,000 for Rice Stix, Inc., during the next three years, it was announced Thursday.

The estimate was made as representatives of the firm and the AFL Teamsters Union worked out details of an agreement approved by the membership Wednesday designed to keep the present management in control of the company.

The present labor contract called for six pay raises for a total 33 cents an hour per man between now and Dec. 1, 1957. Also given up was a pension and insurance program amounting to 11 cents an hour per employee.

Under the agreement the union can ask for new wage negotiations in any year the company shows more than a 5 per cent return on its invested capital, about 20 million dollars.

The Reliance Manufacturing Co. of New York recently announced an offer of $42 a share for 75,000 shares of the Rice Stix stock. The union action was to make possible larger stockholder dividends by the present management.

EXPENSIVE DRINK
FRUITA, Colo. (AP)—An empty whisky bottle is displayed in the window of the office of L. I. Harris, justice of the peace. On it is a penciled note:

"This cost the man who drank it $266."

Invitations To Bowl Classics Up For Grabs In Today's Battles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six invitations to New Year's rich bowl games will be up for grabs Saturday as college football bows out with a small but select list of traditional games.

The bowl bid atmosphere even extends to the top game of the day, the Army-Navy clash at Philadelphia before a sellout crowd of 105,000, plus uncounted watches on the nation's TV sets and listeners on the overseas broadcasts.

Both service academies traditionally are cold to invitations from bowl sponsors, but Sugar Bowl officials still say Navy is under consideration for the New Orleans game. Academy officials have neither confirmed nor denied bowl talk.

But Sugar Bowl officials are quite frank to say seventh ranked Mississippi will be one of their teams Jan. 1—if the Rebels can wrap up the Southeastern State Conference title by whipping Mississippi State.

Baylor, No. 9 team in the Associated Press rankings, will have two goals in its battle with Rice: a tie with Arkansas as Southwest Conference champion and a Sugar Bowl berth.

Arkansas, knocked down to the No. 13 spot after successive losses to Southern Methodist and Louisiana State, will try to climb back into the top 10 at Houston's expense.

Arkansas's opponent in the Cotton Bowl could well be Georgia Tech, which closes its season against Georgia, an old, bitter rival. If Mississippi should lose out in the Sugar Bowl scramble, however, Georgia Tech would be a prime candidate to succeed the Rebels, and Mississippi might wind up in the Cotton Bowl.

Other possibilities are West Virginia, No. 12, which closes out against Virginia; Auburn, No. 15, which meets Alabama, and Kentucky, No. 18.

Duke hopes to clinch a spot in the Orange Bowl opposite Nebraska by trouncing old rival North Carolina. The Blue Devils have a 3-0 mark in the Atlantic Coast Conference compared to Maryland's 4-0-1. A committee picks the bowl representative.

The Rose Bowl, of course, is all set with Ohio State, the nation's top ranked team, against twice-beaten Southern California. Fourth-ranked Notre Dame which has beaten USC at South Bend every time since 1939, is expected to do it again Saturday.

Ohio State and UCLA, the No. 2 team, have finished their regular schedules undefeated. Oklahoma, No. 3, is expected to join them by walloping Oklahoma A & M for the Sooners' 19th straight victory over a two-year span.

Saturday's traditional games include Holy Cross vs. Boston College, Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt, Louisiana State vs. Tulane, Miami vs. Florida, TCU-SMU and Wyoming-Arizona.

Time of game—12:30 p.m. CST. Parade—Cadets march into stadium at 11 a.m. CST followed by midshipmen at approximately 11:20 p.m. CST.

Team records—Army 7-1, Navy 6-2. Series record—Army leads 28-24.

Red Radio Says 13 Americans Told Of 'Spy Training'

LONDON (AP)—Peiping Radio said today the 13 Americans sentenced to prison terms as spies were given a public trial "at which they admitted having received special training in espionage and guerrilla warfare."

The Red Chinese radio was keeping up its drumfire of propaganda in the case of the 11 airmen and two civilians whose sentences by a military court to terms ranging from four years to life was disclosed by the Peiping regime Tuesday.

All were captured during the Korean War. Both the American and British governments have denounced the charges as false and a violation of the Geneva Convention on prisoners of war. The United States is trying to arrange a face-to-face meeting at Geneva with diplomatic representatives to take up the case.

Peiping Radio said Col. John Knox Arnold Jr. of Silver Spring, Md., commander of a B29 shot down Jan. 12, 1953, over North Korea, confessed in court he was engaged in intelligence work. He was sentenced to 10 years.

"Arnold, colonel of the U. S. 581st Air Resupply and Communications Wing, stated in court that his wing had not been committed in the Korean theater and was attached to the U. S. secret intelligence agency," the broadcast said.

It gave no explanation of the long delay between the capture of the men and their trial. The trial date was not specified but apparently it was only recently held.

FIVE DIE IN COLLISION
MENDOTA, Ill. (AP)—Five persons were killed Wednesday night in a head-on automobile collision on U. S. Route 51 north of Mendota.

The dead were Richard E. Ondell, 25, of Milton, Wis., his wife, Doris, 23, and their 3-year-old daughter, Deborah; Robert E. Verly, 33, and Walter Duffy, both of Shabbona, Ill.

WATERWAY SHIPMENTS
Crude oil and petroleum products, on a tonnage basis, account for about 65 per cent of the U.S. ocean shipping and 35 per cent of the traffic on its inland waterways.

Lions Roar To Within One Game Of Title

DETROIT (AP)—After getting a "bad" game out of their system, the Detroit Lions today were within one victory of clinching their third straight Western Division title and a spot in the National Football League's championship game.

The Lions, playing loosely both on offense and defense, squeezed past the Green Bay Packers 28-24 Thursday in their annual Thanksgiving Day game before 55,532 fans in Briggs Stadium.

The victory—Coach Buddy Parker called it a lucky one—moved the Lions into a position where one more victory will send them against the champions of the Eastern Division in the title which, barring complications, is set for Dec. 26.

But the Lions were dull and unimaginative against the Packers, 16-point underdogs who narrowly missed pulling a big upset.

There were flashes of brilliance in Detroit's game—such as Bobby Layne's touchdown passes (the 100th and 101st of his career) and two dazzling runs by Jack Christiansen, who went 30 yards with an intercepted pass for one touchdown and 61 yards with a punt return for another.

Tobin Rote, a one-man team if ever there was one, almost single-handedly upset the Lions. The former Rice star handled the ball on 98 plays, passing for one touchdown and scoring another.

He completed 13 of 38 passes for 254 yards and ran seven times for another 39 yards.

Montreal Back Named Canada's Outstanding Player

TORONTO (AP)—Sam Etcheverry, Montreal Alouettes' quarterback and passer, Friday was named Canada's outstanding football player of 1954.

Gerry James, Winnipeg Blue Bombers halfback, was named the outstanding native Canadian player.

Etcheverry, a graduate of Denver University, receives the trophy and $1,000. Each of his Alouette teammates receives a tie-clasp. James gets $300.

The selections were made by sports writers and sportscasters in cities of the Big Four, the Western Conference and the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Nationalists Beat Off Red Attack On Island 72 Miles Off Formosa

Nationalist-held Quemoy and 66 miles southeast of Foochow on the mainland, is so small that it appears only on very large-scale maps.

Some Taipei quarters thought it possible the Reds might have been interested in seeing whether their assault on a small offshore island would provoke any American reaction.

The only announced commitment of the U. S. 7th Fleet has been to safeguard Formosa and the Pescadores from Communist invasion.

American policy has been to keep the Reds guessing as to intentions toward offshore islands.

XXVIII
THEY slept late next morning and were awakened by the door of the trailer opening and Rupert, his voice charged with excitement, calling, "I just saw an Indian!"

"Pity he didn't scalp you," Greg replied sleepily.
"But I did see an Indian," Rupert told Kirby who was burrowing into the pillow, trying to get back to sleep. "A whole family of them. The woman was sitting cross-legged on the sidewalk with her hair dangling over her shoulders in braids and a blanket over her."

Kirby rolled over and looked up at him, his impudent nose wrinkled with amusement. "What did you expect? You're in the West now. And a god-forsaken looking piece of real estate it is," he added, as he opened the Venetian blinds and looked out. "I'd give three months' salary to see the subway kiosk at Times Square and hear the traffic and see the lights; to sleep until a civilized hour in the morning."

It was a bleak little town of frame houses, without lawns, with almost no attempt at adornment, set down haphazardly in space under a deep blue sky, with parched plains stretching to the horizon. For Rupert's enchanted eyes there moved across the barren plains a procession of buffalo, covered wagons, cowboys, Indians, the United States Cavalry galloping to the rescue.

HANNAH had taken advantage of the unexpected warmth of the day to wear a lime-colored cotton dress that did a spectacular job for her figure. The blouse was fading but she still wore her hair low over her cheek. And this morning it was combed in soft waves.

Greg noticed that Kirby approved of what he saw. Some-thing about that lime-colored dress made Hannah seem more real. Greg discarded the word etheral. Not with her figure. Somehow, you couldn't help being aware of Hannah in a pleasantly disturbing sort of way.

Kirby opened the door for her with a flourish. "Come in, Beautiful," he said.

Hannah responded by a naively pleased smile, although Greg thought any woman ought to discount that blatant kind of flattery.

"Well, children," Daggett began, looking around like a schoolmaster, "it's about time we started making plans."

There was a keyed-up excitement about him that worried Greg. "You take it easy," he ordered, and Daggett looked at him, the difficult smile pulling at his mouth.

"Well, it's like this," Daggett was so moved that he struggled to keep his voice as expressionless as possible. He had been born, he said, in the little town of Dead Man's Gulch, named for the leading topographical point of interest, in the heart of the Badlands. The town had been built by his father who had settled in North Dakota where he had attempted to build up a meat-packing center that would rival Chicago.

Chicago, he went on, was never seriously threatened and the abortive industry had declined and fallen like ancient Rome, only much faster. The place had become a ghost town. "I've never been back," Daggett said. "A few years ago I got talking with an enthusiast on Americana and restoring the past. I hired him to see what he could do about fixing it up. Nothing elaborate but—reminiscent, anyhow. So let's go take a look."

Within an hour or two the scenery began to change. There were no more farms, no fertile land, only a landscape like that of the moon, bleak and savage.

KIRBY laughed. "Of all crazy things the craziest is to own a ghost town."

Daggett huddled his chin in his coat collar. Greg eased the car over the rough road. He was astonished to hear his own voice declare, "Put it on a paying basis."

"But you've been saying there is nothing to turn into money," Greg conceded, "and no water. But they've got history, they've got romance. If people will read about it and go to the movies, why won't they come out here to see the Old West actually come to life?"

Daggett looked at Greg intently. Something was happening to the young man.

"Think of it!" Greg went on. "Log cabins to stay in, gambling if they want it. Girls in the old costumes in the dance hall, people decked out in cowboy outfits, bad men, a stagecoach to bring people from the train. Why, it would have dude ranches beaten a mile. Maybe on Saturday nights we could stage a gun fight in a gambling hall or a stagecoach robbery. I tell you it can't miss. American folklore come to life."

Daggett wondered whether Greg was as unaware as he appeared to be of his inadvertent use of the word "two."

Rupert spoke up. "Folklore. All the time your advertisements hammer about what is American. Why not show people? Why not a television show in Dead Man's Gulch after we have fixed it up?"

We again. The living eyes in Daggett's dead face blazed with excitement. Apparently, the thing was going to become a community enterprise.

"You mean, get a television crew out here?" Greg asked blankly.

"Well, however you work it," Rupert said. "You suggested I work out a television program for Crain's Canned Cornbread."

Greg could not do two things at the same time. He brought the car to a halt.

"You know, Rupert, maybe you've really got something. 'I've never been back,' Daggett said. 'A few years ago I got talking with an enthusiast on Americana and restoring the past. I hired him to see what he could do about fixing it up. Nothing elaborate but—reminiscent, anyhow. So let's go take a look.'"

Greg felt rather sheepish. "Horace Crain is my stepfather. I could put the idea up to him. Not that he would give much weight to anything that comes from me but still, if the idea is good enough we might get somewhere with it."

"You're a dark horse if I ever saw one!" Daggett exclaimed. He thought how much he had learned from Greg's comment and how much light it threw on the boy's uncertainty.

Greg shrugged. The mention of Horace Crain took the brightness out of the sky, the adventure out of the expedition. Nothing remained but a group of eccentric people. Sky-larking. Around the Country and Going Down-Down-Down, while New York offices were filled with Enterprising Men who Looked Ahead and were going Up-Up-Up.

HE snapped on the switch, rounded a bluff and, without warning, found himself in the very heart of Dead Man's Gulch. Set in a narrow valley shut in by ranges of mountains, it consisted of a single street with a dirt road, rickety boardwalks, frame shacks, a half-dozen log cabins, a couple of false fronts and the Last Chance Hotel.

Daggett's deputy had accomplished a great deal. As a result of a thorough and painstaking search, he had given the town a certain ghostly life.

Daggett pushed his nose flat against the window of the barbershop. There was an old barber's chair, an authentic old shaving mug and in the chair the dummy figure of a miner with a head-dear mustache. An old poster of Lillian Russell hung outside the opera house. There was a saloon with a brass rail, cuspidors, and sawdust on the floor.

But the real triumph was the Last Chance Hotel which had been repaired, painted and furnished in the garish style of the period, with figured wallpaper, plush hangings, beaded portiers, chairs covered with knobby and furbeled, marbled-top tables. The bedrooms upstairs were equipped with washbowls.

Together they inspected the restaurant, which was equipped with long plank tables and benches and had a coal range with a supply of fuel ready to use. Hannah took to it like a duck to water. She had grown up with one.

Kirby helped them unload the food from the trailer and while Hannah set about cooking dinner—supper, Daggett reminded them; it was important to keep the details straight—Greg and Kirby made up beds in the hotel.

WHEN they had finished eating, Kirby looked from the oil lamp on the table to the pot-tered stove and chuckled. Daggett was unaware of his amusement. For once he was in a garrulous mood, pouring out reminiscences, getting more and more wrought up.

Greg pushed back his chair. "That's all for tonight," he said authoritatively. He spoke so rarely that they were startled into attention. "What time for breakfast, Hannah?"

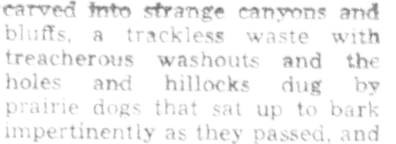

"I'll have it by 7:30," she promised.

Kirby groaned. "There is no such hour."

Daggett, who could not manage the stairs, was soon settled in a room Greg had fixed for him on the first floor of the hotel.

There was a glint of humor in Daggett's eyes. "You know, the evolution of Gregory Seaver is progressing at top speed. I am looking forward to the meeting between you and your stepfather. It should be amusing."

Mr. Walsh was a member of the Catholic church.

Funeral services and burial will take place in Duluth.

Ike Announces Diplomatic Shift, Caffery Retires

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday announced a diplomatic shift involving new ambassadors for India and Egypt and a new assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs.

The changes, occasioned by the long expected retirement of Jefferson Caffery as ambassador in Cairo, will be submitted to the Senate for confirmation when the chamber reconvenes in special session Monday.

The changes are occasioned by the long expected retirement of Jefferson Caffery as ambassador in Cairo. The White House hasn't decided whether to submit them to the Senate for confirmation when the chamber reconvenes in special session Monday or to await the next session of Congress in January.

Henry A. Byroade, the present assistant secretary for Middle East affairs, has been nominated to succeed Caffery. George V. Allen, ambassador to India, has been chosen to take Byroade's place here.

A successor for Allen as ambassador to India has not yet been announced, but the educated guess is that it would be Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) who lost his Senate post to former Democratic Vice President Alben W. Barkley in the Nov. 2 elections.

Services Friday For Sam Harris

Receive First Reports; Our Saviour's Hospital Pledges Are $196,596

Pledges totaling $196,596 in Our Saviour's Hospital Building Fund campaign were reported at the first general report meeting held at the Dunlap Hotel on Wednesday afternoon. All production divisions in the campaign made reports. However, many units in the organization have just started and reports from these sections of the organization were not included in the initial tabulation of pledges.

The amount reported represents 26 per cent of the campaign's objective of $750,000. Frank R. Rantz, associate chairman of the campaign, presided at the meeting. The organization of volunteer committeemen are engaged in securing the funds needed to construct a new wing and to modernize the facilities of the hospital. "Substantial progress has been made to date," Mr. Rantz stated, "as much of the work is not reflected in the figures reported due to the fact that a great many of the prospective donors are just now making up their minds regarding their support in this essential community undertaking."

Memorials are being considered by a number of donors. At the present time the record indicates the following units or rooms reserved by donors: admittance office, witchboard and office, and the X-ray waiting room on the first floor of the new wing. On the second floor the nurses' station and a one-patient room have been reserved. While on the fourth floor the important recovery room with air conditioning of the surgical section of the hospital are reserved. Campaign officials and committeemen are calling attention to the opportunity now available to a donor to perpetuate for years to come the name of a donor, a family, or a friend.

Reports by divisions are as follows: Memorial Gifts Division including the Medical Division $150,138; Major Gifts Division including Scott County $23,816; Six Star Division with report from business, industrial and government $2,598; Town and Country Division with reports from Concord, Franklin, Murfreesboro, and Virginia $7,052; and the Women's Division $15,075. Those making reports from communities in the hospital's area of service were—Mrs. Edgar Anderson of Concord, Leo Bergschneider, Pat Kenny, Dennis Whalen of Franklin, William F. Loneragan of Murfreesboro, Jimmie Frisch of Virginia, Joe Malone of Manchester, Hunter Funk of Kingston, Mrs. Mary Condit Rockwood, Paul Lehman and Albert Herring of Winchester.

Each division chairman and community leader is urging that all workers make a concerted effort to contact all prospects at the earliest moment possible and to be present at the next report meeting which will be held at the Dunlap Hotel next Wednesday at 12:15 o'clock noon.

Santa Claus Arrives; Pleased With Festive Streets And Stores

Santa Claus, looking not a bit older than last year, rode into the Jacksonville business district at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in a Ford Thunderbird, to usher in the holiday shopping festivities. He was greeted by a noisy, laughing horde of children, many of whom had guessed that he would come in a car.

Santa Claus rode in from North Main street in regal style, encircled the public square, which has been gayly decorated for the holidays, and took his stand at the northwest corner of the square, where the traditional Santa Claus cabin has been erected.

More than 250 boys and girls submitted guesses in a contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, as to what means of transportation Santa would use. Those who guessed successfully will receive movie tickets through courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce.

Carlton H. Hill Dies At Home On South Fayette

Carlton Harrison Hill, 610 South Fayette street, died at 6:10 o'clock Friday morning at his home after an extended illness. He had formerly been a patient at the veterans' hospital in St. Louis.

The decedent was born March 11, 1891, in Jacksonville, son of Harry and Elizabeth Weir Hill. He is survived by his stepfather, Frank Weir, two brothers and one sister, Walter Hill, a member of the police department in this city; Roy James Hill, St. Louis and Myrtle Braxton, Jacksonville.

Hill was a veteran of World War I and was a member of Mo's War Veterans American Legion Post 853. He was formerly employed as maintenance man at the Illinois theater.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Gillham Funeral Home with Rev. Boyd Patrick officiating. Interment will be made in Jacksonville cemetery, where military rites will be held at the grave.

The family will meet friends Saturday night from 7 to 9 o'clock at the funeral home.

Mrs. Schroeder Of Carrollton Dies

CARROLLTON—Mrs. Lena Behnen Schroeder, wife of William J. Schroeder, died Friday morning at 4 o'clock at her home in Carrollton.

She was born in Greene county, April 19, 1898, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Burney Behnen.

Surviving are the husband; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Steinacher and Mrs. Catherine Nord of Carrollton, a brother, William Behnen, also of Carrollton; seven stepchildren.

Mrs. Schroeder was a member of St. John's Catholic church.

Members will take gift contributions that may be sold in the hospital Gift Shop up to but under five dollars. The articles will range from dainty clothes and accessories for infants to personal items and gifts appropriate for hospital patients. A table will be provided for proper and attractive display of the gifts.

The program will be presented by John T. Hackett of Jacksonville, owner and operator of "The City Garden" located at 232 Dunlap Court. Mr. Hackett will discuss interesting imported and domestic fancy foods. He will have on display packaged and attractive foods from this country and many foreign lands. His repertoire will include tales about the wreck of a Spanish Galleon off the coast of Scotland over a hundred years ago, the discovery during the invasion of the Aztec Indian empire of one of our most used foods today, the story of the English woman who rode from village to village by horseback to sell a new form of seasoning, stories of pink gold and black diamonds and of Napoleon's favorite cake.

Many of the foods that will be described by Mr. Hackett will also be opened during and after the program for taste testing. Also booklets, such as the one entitled, "ABC's of Herb Cookery," will be available for distribution.

There has been a great upsurge of interest in what is termed "fancy foods" during the past ten years. It is the opinion of Mr. Hackett that people want to know more about them and it is with this in mind that he has developed this informative talk.

There will be no soliciting or selling of any kind in connection with the program which has been obtained for entertainment only.

Brother Of Airman, Reds Sentenced As Spy, Enlists Tom told Jacksonville police he liked horses "better than people." He was interrogated by police along the route several times during his long trek from Denver, but it seems that police departments in most cities washed their hands of the matter, permitting Tom to head out of town, not toward the setting sun, as they do in the movies, but in the opposite direction.

The Jacksonville police took the position that they were doing Tom, his parents, and his horse a favor by calling a halt to his wanderings, at least in this section of the country.

The mother, Mrs. Ray Peters, 43, suffered a heart attack Wednesday night but was better Friday. The family thinks worry over the plight of her captured son, Airman 2/C Daniel C. Schmidt, 22, was responsible for the attack.

Brother Of Airman, Reds Sentenced As Spy, Enlists

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—James Schmidt, whose Air Force brother was sentenced this week by Red China to four years in prison as a "spy," took his examination Friday for enlistment in the Air Force.

James, 18, said he had been thinking about it for a long time and arranged two weeks ago to sign up in his brother's branch of the service.

Navy Crackdown On Laxity On Ships, In Hong Kong

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has started a new crackdown on laxity aboard ships and among American crews in Hong Kong and other Asian ports that has brought reports of American equipment leading into Red China.

The Navy disclosed its action Friday in the wake of an Associated Press story from Hong Kong reporting that gullible or dishonest American sailors were trading equipment for curios, liquor, women and possibly some narcotics.

The Navy Department said here that about three weeks ago special investigators were dispatched from the Far East Command to Hong Kong.

Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, followed up this week by sending a stern message to all of his commanders and officers in the Western Pacific warning them of their responsibility to "comport themselves not only with legality, but also with dignity, discretion, and good taste."

Pilfering from ships has been a recurring problem. The Navy said, in answer to inquiries here, that about two years ago investigation revealed the disappearance from ships' stores of such items as diesel engine spray nozzles and other spare parts which apparently had been stolen by visiting hawkers with the aid of sailors. Such spare parts brought premium prices along the China coast because the Communists needed them for equipment they had captured when the Nationalists were driven from the mainland to Formosa.

16 Year Old 'Cowboy' And Horse Ride Truck Home From Jacksonville

Tom Peterson's career as a cowboy and cross-country rider was halted in Jacksonville when Tom and his horse were loaded into a truck and started back to the family home in Steubenville, Ohio.

Tom, 16, who had been riding and talking his way from Denver, Colo., became somewhat of a pest in this city, according to Chief of Police Ike Flynn. Although he carried a scrapbook describing his cross-country jaunt, containing numerous newspaper pictures, Tom's arrival in this city was none too auspicious.

His steed became lame west of Jacksonville several days ago. Tom asked John Funch, a farmer, to keep it for him until he got ready to resume his journey.

The youthful traveler came into the city and made his headquarters at the police station. He slept there a couple of nights.

Tom was not backward about "mooning," according to police. He got hold of enough money to buy a large cap pistol.

He wore a large cowboy hat. He walked like a cowboy, either through nature or because he had observed the ways cowboys walk in movies or on television.

Brandishes Cap Pistol Tom got to exhibiting the cap pistol in a business-like fashion which sort of frightened people. He appeared to be a juvenile without means of support, and Chief Flynn got tired of him hanging around the police station—regardless of whether he was a celebrity with a growing scrapbook.

The chief telephoned the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Peterson, at Steubenville. He told her that Tom had "broken down" in Jacksonville—that both Tom and his horse needed help. The mother promised to take charge of the situation.

A truck arrived Thursday night to pick up the boy and his horse, which he said he bought in Kansas for $300. He said he rode the horse to Denver, then backtracked and was headed for Steubenville.

Tom said in interviews along the route that his folks didn't believe he actually had a horse, and that he was riding it like a show horse.

Father Of White Hall Minister Dies In Texas WHITE HALL—The father of a White Hall pastor, Rev. Harry F. Bohn, age 80, died Thursday night at his home in Fort Worth, Texas. He was the father of Rev. Ben A. Bohn, pastor of the First Baptist church of White Hall. The deceased is a retired Methodist minister who was a member of the Iowa Methodist Conference for 30 years before his retirement.

He was born March 2, 1874 and after retiring lived a number of years in Webster Groves, Mo., before moving to Texas. He is survived by his wife, Anna, and six children, Irvin H. of Webster Groves, Mo.; Mrs. Alice Ryan, Brentwood, Mo.; Joseph G. of Fort Worth; Rev. William F. Bohn, Methodist pastor at East Alton; Rev. Ben A. Bohn, of White Hall and Miss Louis Bohn, Methodist missionary to Chile in South America and who is in the States now on leave.

The body was taken to the Haverson and Cole Funeral Home in Ft. Worth, Texas, where services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday. Burial will be made in Ft. Worth.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ben A. Bohn of White Hall and the Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Bohn of East Alton will attend the funeral.

Pilot Hurled Through Canopy Of Jet Is Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force pilot was killed Friday when he accidentally was hurled through the plastic canopy of his jet trainer plane while waiting to take off from nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

The victim was identified as Lt. Col. Glenn E. Davis, 39, of Arlington, Va.

A base spokesman said Davis apparently touched off the ejection mechanism, designed to toss a pilot from the plane in flight in case of emergency.

The spokesman said that in an emergency the pilot shifts a lever that removes the plastic canopy, then operates another lever that ejects him through the open space.

The Air Force official said pilots have ejected themselves through the plastic in flight, and survived. But he added that if Davis had not been killed by the impact against the closed canopy, he probably would have been killed by his fall to the ground.

Ike's Telegram Year Too Late, Mother Of GI Says

VISTA, Calif. (AP)—The mother of one of 13 Americans sentenced to prison on spy charges by Communist China said Friday President Eisenhower's Thanksgiving expression of concern for them was "about a year too late."

Mrs. H. L. Stitter at the same time expressed admiration for Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), Senate majority leader, who has been critical of the administration's policy towards Communist countries. He has urged a blockade of China and severance of diplomatic relations with Russia.

The mother of Air Force Capt. Elmer F. Llewellyn, 29, shot down with the crew of a B29 bomber on a Korean mission in 1952, said she received the President's telegram sent to relatives of the 13 yesterday.

"I consider it no more than a form letter and think it is about a year too late," she said in an interview.

Mrs. Della Baker Buried Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Della Baker were held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Williamson Funeral Home in Jacksonville with the Rev. Garfield Rodgers of Manchester officiating.

Mrs. Opaline Swisher, soloist, sang "Rock of Ages" and "The Old Rugged Cross," accompanied by Mrs. Franck Angel at the organ.

Assisting with floral arrangements were Barbara Gross, Betty Ann Floyd, Shirley Bland, Betty Slater, Paddy Isaacs and Sue Moss.

Pallbearers were Kenneth Mills, Byron Mills, Wallace Kennett, Wendall Oxley, Warren Moss and Homer Baker.

Burial was made in Ebenezer cemetery.

CONANT ARRIVES FROM GERMANY WASHINGTON (AP)—High commissioner James B. Conant will arrive from Germany Saturday for talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other officials.

The State Department said Conant would "spend a few days" here to discuss developments in Germany.
